

Portugal Will Hold Election in Few Days

EUROPE WATCHING CLOSELY TURN OF EVENTS IN YOUNG REPUBLIC AND POWER OF ENDURANCE AT STAKE.

Paris, May 19.—The political eyes of Europe will be turned upon Portugal where the elections for the constituent assembly have been fixed for May 29. Thus for the young republic has weathered the more or less serious conspiracies to restore Yago to his throne and the dangers of partisan strife. The elections are looked forward to as a test of the republic's power of endurance.

Senator Jo Ghasas who has just been appointed Portuguese Minister to France is enthusiastic over the future of his country and says: "We are confident that once the constituent assembly is in session the greater powers will follow the example of Brazil and the Argentine in giving official recognition to the republic of Portugal. We trust that America will be among the first in that country we feel that there is a peculiar sympathy for us in our efforts for a greater and truer Portugal."

Restoration Impossible
Senator Ghasas considers it idle to discuss the possibility of the restoration of the crown. "Any move in that direction," he said, "would be serious but only in one sense that it would be fatal for those who attempt it. Let the world be assured that the great masses of the Portuguese people have sworn forever with the monarchy. There has been talk of divisions among the republicans. But these splits are not dangerous. The people are wise to destroy their own creation by stupid party quarrels. There is in America, in New England particularly, large Portuguese colonies. Our reports from there are excellent: I mean of the spirit of their progress as good citizens, their intense love for education and their growing interest in the national life. That illustrates the whole question for us at home. It indicates the natural aptitude and ability of the Portuguese people for the government in which all have a voice."

Financial Reorganization
The Portuguese republic was not a surprise. It was a political solution, expected for a long time past. The new nation has already made more progress in a few months than the old regime could have accomplished in a century. Among the laws promulgated are those affecting the separation of church and state, the responsibility of paternity, the civil status, obligatory service, the suppression of the religious orders and the compulsory education. It is well recognized that the monarchy appreciably compressed the country's finances. The republic is endeavoring to reconstruct them with scrupulous and intelligent management. The interest on the external debt will be paid promptly. There is no intention to have recourse to frequent loans to emerge temporarily from difficulties.

C. N. R. TO HAVE BETTER SERVICE

MAY ARRANGE TO RUN MAIN LINE PASSENGER TRAINS VIA REGINA

Superintendent Brown, of the Edmonton division of the C. N. R., left the city a few days ago on a trip over the east line to make final arrangements for the establishment of the improved passenger service over the road which will go into effect about June 1st. He will return to the city tomorrow or Sunday.

It is understood that the C. N. R. is making arrangements to run the main line trains from Winnipeg to Edmonton via Regina instead of over the present route. The Regina road will be shorter and the through service has been established over this route before only for the reason that the road had not been in a condition to stand the traffic. This year, however, heavy steel will be laid from Didsbury to Warman and it will be possible to make the change.

Regina papers state that in view of the proposed change in the service, several conductors who will live in Regina under the new arrangement have been notified to leave and are making enquiries for houses in the city. No official announcement regarding this change has been made up to the present.

Young's Testimony Covers Some Ground in the Oliver Investigation at Ottawa GOES INTO HISTORY OF GRANT OF GOVERNMENT LANDS TO MANITOBA AND SOUTHEASTERN—MEMORY FAULTY ON CERTAIN POINTS.

Ottawa, May 19.—Continuing his testimony yesterday before the committee appointed to investigate grave charges affecting the integrity of Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, R. E. Young, officer in charge of Dominion swamp and railway lands since 1901, traced the history of the case since the first important order-in-council, 1891, when the grant of 6,400 acres per mile was given to the Manitoba and Southeastern. These lands were to be east of the Red River and to be fairly fit for settlement, which the minister was to be the sole judge. The length of the railway was to be 98 miles.

Young read order-in-council passed in 1897 which renewed the grant, but it was pointed out that owing to an arrangement with the Manitoba and Southeastern, swamp lands could not be conveyed to the railway. In 1901, the minister, Mr. Oliver, was met with the C. N. R., and in 1907 an order-in-council was passed which empowered the railway to select the bulk of its land.

The reason advanced was that owing to the amount of swamp lands in eastern Manitoba, not more than 20,000 acres was fit land.

Young then produced a map to show the swamp lands in Manitoba, but Mr. Oliver pointed out that he was producing the map of 1911 to show that no lands were available to satisfy the demand for lands earned in 1900. Young contended that the other map would show that. Mr. Meighen tried to get Young down on the point.

On May 12th they left the schooner Deschawia, Captain Halson, near Banks Island, in Arctic Straits, in two boats to prospect for sea otter. A heavy mist came down and they were unable to find their way back to the schooner. They had no charts, only enough food for one meal and a little water. They paddled round till morning when they sighted land, which was Grief Point, on Banks Island. They saw no sign of the schooner Deschawia. They followed round the west coast of the island till they reached Kila, an Indian settlement on McLaughlin Bay. There were no white men there. The chief, Claxton, met and understood them, but directed them to Claxton, the nearest point of civilization at the mouth of the Skeena.

The men took the heavy passage and found themselves on Poreh Island, which was uninhabited. Fatigued, they staggered into Claxton on Wednesday night. Captain Clifton fed and cared for the best men, the first real food they had seen for several days. They had arrived here yesterday afternoon.

MR. EATON'S ADVICE IS NOT WANTED TO HELP MAKE ROOF GAS AGREEMENT

$85,000 Hotel to Be Erected This Summer in the East End of City

A six-story hotel in the east end, occupying a frontage of 66 feet, is to be erected during the summer and fall by a company organized by Robert F. Klein, proprietor of the Grand View Hotel McDougall avenue, at a cost of $85,000. Mr. Klein expects to secure a suitable property by the close of the month of May, and as soon as a satisfactory deal can be made, he will call for plans and specifications for the construction of the hotel. Yesterday Mr. Klein disposed of the Grand View hotel to the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, for $12,000. The price included the value of the building and furnishings. The land was disposed of some time ago to the Grand Trunk Pacific, and forms a portion of the site of the million dollar hotel to be erected by them on McDougall avenue.

COATES CONFERS WITH COMMITTEE
TALK OVER OFFER TO INSTALL ARTIFICIAL GAS WORKS IN EDMONTON

That he is prepared to undertake the installation of a gas plant which would meet the needs of the city at the present time, within one year from the date of the signing of the agreement with the city, and turn the same over to the municipality whenever the citizens decide that the proposal for installing their own artificial gas works, will it be understood, be the substance of the proposition which John Coates, representing old country capitalists, will lay before the special committee of the council this afternoon.

The special committee appointed to investigate any proposition which Mr. Coates may have to offer consists of Aldermen Schuch, McNeil and McKinley and the meeting of the committee and Mr. Coates will be held in the council chamber this afternoon at 2:30.

BRITISH CONSUL AT CARLETON REPORTED KILLED BY MOORS
Madrid, May 19.—The Tangier correspondent of the Heroldes telegraphs that tribes with the connivance of Ismail have captured the French arsenal at Aousar. The British consul at Carleton is said to have been killed. The government has no information confirming the report.

TWO CHANGES TO BE MADE GOVERNMENT OFFICES
A number of changes in the provincial government offices will be made June 1, by the retirement on pension of Geo. Roy, for many years land and registrar, and the appointment to fill the vacancy of A. Y. Blain, at present inspector.

Mr. Blain has occupied his present position a couple of years, after the formation of the first government of the province. The name of his successor has not yet been announced.

They paddled down the coast and went ashore at Kila. One man kept the first going while the others slept. Sufficient fresh water was found at different points. They had rifles but little ammunition, and shot four birds to keep them alive.

They staggered into Claxton on Wednesday night. Captain Clifton fed and cared for the best men, the first real food they had seen for several days. They had arrived here yesterday afternoon.

SERVED IN MANY CAPACITIES NOW ENTITLED TO A PENSION
Montreal, May 19.—William Robb who has served the corporation of Montreal, as accountant, auditor, comptroller and city treasurer during the past 17 years will retire at the end of the present year. He will be entitled to a pension of $1,125 during the remainder of his life.

Alderman Lundy Brings Franchise Hunter and His Solicitor to the Committee Meeting, but Commissioners Refuse to go Ahead With him Present.

ACCOMPLISHED NOTHING; A NEW COMMITTEE APPOINTED

An attempt by Alderman Lundy, chairman of the council industrial committee, to overstep the instructions of the council and compel an agreement with the International Heating and Lighting Company, instead of a model gas agreement on which any company desiring could quote a price was nipped by Commissioners Hamilton and Jutehart at the first meeting of the Commissioners and industrial committee yesterday afternoon. As a result the joint committee fought over this point for nearly three hours but in the end agreed after having appointed Alderman Lundy, Solicitor Brown, and Commissioner Hamilton a committee to prepare a model agreement with instruction to submit same to the committee at the earliest possible moment.

Prior to the meeting Alderman Lundy had a long conference with C. S. Eaton, representing the company, and O. M. Biegar, his solicitor with the result that they were present at the committee meeting with an amended agreement with the International Heating and Lighting Company. (Continued on Page Eight.)

Alberta's Annual Musical Contest Brilliant Success; Closes With Big Concert

WINNERS OF MEDALS AND TROPHIES IN THE COMPETITIONS TAKE PART IN PROGRAMME AT THISTLE RINK

Alberta's fourth annual musical festival terminated last evening with a grand concert in the Thistle rink. The winners of the medals and trophies offered in the various classes of the competition participated in the programme and a festival orchestra and chorus of 150 voices took part in the musical programme. The programme was a revelation to many who had their first opportunity last night of enjoying the excellent work of the musicians of Edmonton and other centres in this section of the country.

Application of the children's singing in the juvenile chorus was expressed both by Dr. Perrin of Montreal and Professor Waddell of Boston, the adjudicators who have presided at all the competitions. The two gentlemen spoke briefly before the trophies were presented to the successful contestants in the festival at the close of the first part of the programme. In the absence of Lieutenant Governor Buxton who was to have made the presentation Mrs. Buxton officiated. The evening's entertainment was a revelation to many who had their first opportunity last night of enjoying the excellent work of the musicians of Edmonton and other centres in this section of the country.

The programme opened with Mendelssohn's "March of the Priests" rendered by the orchestra. The Strathcona and the Wetaskiwin choruses, directed by C. E. Cox of Strathcona, "Strike the Bell" one of the selections which during the afternoon won the Cross shield for the Strathcona society.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Lansdown, winners in the duet competition sang "Flow gently, Dore" (Perry). The piece chosen for the children's chorus was Murdoch's "Lullaby" and the perfect manner in which the spirit of the song was captured was surprising.

Miss Knox of Calgary who won the medal in the soprano competition sang "Twas April" and the winning mezzo soprano soloist, Miss Mildred Webb of (Continued on Page Eight.)

Just one week from today the ratepayers will be called upon to approve of a money bylaw which provides the sum of $115,000 for the purchase of property to be used as a union stock yard. The property selected by the industrial committee and approved by the council has just east of Belvedere subdivision northeast of the city, and consists of approximately 240 acres. The property is advantageously located so far as truckage facilities are concerned, being between the main lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern railway.

After considerable negotiation with different parties an option was secured on this property for a price less than $500 per acre or just half what land subdivided into city lots, in that vicinity is selling for.

Discussing the statements which are current on the streets to the effect that the city could secure the property at a much lower price for $100 per acre, Armstrong this morning stated that if the property in the city had or knew of property as well situated he would be willing to entertain their proposition.

GREAT ACTOR IS JOHN GRIFFITH

EMINENT "TRAGEDIAN" APPEARS AT EMPIRE THEATRE IN SHAKESPEARIAN PLAYS

"Faust" never grows old with lovers of the dramatic art. Those who have seen it want to go again, while those less fortunate probably fail to realize what they have missed. Of the later, this is particularly true of last night's performance at the Empire theatre. In the role of Methophilus, the Prince of Darkness, John Griffith was met with a super on the American stage. He shines resplendent as a tragic actor and to a marked degree is in a class all by himself.

Mr. Griffith's support is good, his company including a number of artists, including Richard Scott, who is assisting in the title role, and Miss Edith Totten, as Marguerite. The entire cast, for that matter, is excellent.

Mr. Griffith and his company play "othello" tonight. "Faust" will be given again at the matinee tomorrow afternoon, and the "Immigrant Hall" will appear in "The Belis." Popular prices prevail for all seats in the house.

All Comforts of Home Are Found at the City Hall for Immigrants

INGENUOUS PLANS CARRIED OUT TO MAKE STAY PLEASANT FOR VISITORS, INCLUDING THE CHEERY NOTES OF CANARY BIRDS.

To the uninitiated a certain feeling attaches to the term "immigrant hall" that is equivalent to the impression that this building, which is situated in the centre of the Canadian west of any importance, is a kind of a bleak, cold stopping place for the accommodation of those who happen to be without friends or relatives in the new land or means with which to pay their way to better places.

But one has only to visit the hall at this time to be relieved entirely of this impression and to discover that as a place to spend a few days while a husband or father is away in the country looking for a home or a farm to purchase, the "Immigrant Hall" is in many ways far superior to a good many of the hotels of the city. And this is not primarily because living is cheaper there, but because of a homelike atmosphere and—in spite of the crowds that constantly throng the cheerful spirit of the staff in its place, qualities that Mrs. Wiltzie, the matron of the institution, is striving by all the means at her command to keep.

One of the matron's schemes for making the newcomers feel at home is to maintain a whole retinue of singing canaries in one of the back rooms of the hall. It is so arranged that the loudest sounds one will hear in the whole of Edmonton when all those birds are singing together—singing with each other in a mass of blossoms. It is another plan to make the home-sick feel in love with the country at the very first sight of it. It is in the possibilities in the way of growing the varieties of flowers that he probably never expected to see again here.

INSTITUTIONS TO BE OPENED SOON

PROVINCIAL ASYLUM AT PONOKA AND JAIL AT LETHBRIDGE APPROACH COMPLETION

On July 1, the provincial asylum at Ponoka and the provincial jail at Lethbridge will be opened by the government, and the transfer of inmates and prisoners from the various institutions held partly offhanded. The site occupies during the years of construction will commence.

Accommodation for the opening of the Lethbridge jail, which was provided for 150 prisoners, and super-added the guard room of the mounted police at Port Saskatchewan as the sheding place of offenders sentenced for terms of less than two years, are now being made by four Arch. Melton, provincial secretary, who left for the south a couple of days ago. Dr. Rivers of Nanton will be placed in charge of the institution.

Accommodation for 150 prisoners will be provided by the large provincial jail which has been erected at Lethbridge for the purpose of accommodation of the prisoners. The Strathcona and the Wetaskiwin choruses, directed by C. E. Cox of Strathcona, "Strike the Bell" one of the selections which during the afternoon won the Cross shield for the Strathcona society.

Mr. Turner and Mr. Lansdown, winners in the duet competition sang "Flow gently, Dore" (Perry). The piece chosen for the children's chorus was Murdoch's "Lullaby" and the perfect manner in which the spirit of the song was captured was surprising.

LEGISLATIVE WING OF PARLIAMENT BUILDING IS UP

Character Sketch of Queen Mary--Is Extensive Reader

Will Be Completed in Ample Time for Opening of Legislative Assembly in the Fall--Progress of Work

When the legislative assembly convenes for the session of 1911, the old brick box which has done duty for a deliberative hall during the years of Alberta's struggling colonies will have been abandoned, and the debates of the session which will be opened in the fall will take place in the large, luxuriously equipped legislative chamber in the south wing of the new parliament building.

Rising to a height of 58 feet above the level of the plateau, the greater part of the exterior construction of the south wing has already been completed, and within a few months' time, the interior work, upon which the government has already been made, will have been carried through to completion, and the large legislative chamber, fifty-six feet square and extending in height through the second and third stories, following in design the dome of the dome of the old parliament building, will be ready to receive the deputies who through the fall of 1911 must wrestle with the problems of Alberta's government, or, rather, on the benches of interested non-combatants according to their various tastes.

From the south wing, a view of the deliberative hall is commanded a view such as may well suggest to the mediator legislator the conflict which is the day of the pioneer and his own

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND OF THEM WILL LINE THE ROUTE OF PROCESSION

It is estimated that more than 25,000 troops will be employed in London during the coronation ceremonies. No fewer than 25,000 soldiers and sailors from every State and Dominion in the Empire will line the route and take part in the royal procession on Coronation Day. The various contingents, it is expected, will be as follows:

Indian Empire	500
Overseas Dominions	1,500
Colonies and Protectorates	2,000
Channel Island Militia	20
Royal Navy	2,000
Cavalry	2,000
Royal Regiment of Artillery	500
Corps of Royal Engineers	400
Infantry	10,500
Army Service Corps	150
Royal Army Medical Corps	100
Army Ordnance Corps	100
Military Cadeis	100
Special Reserve	1,000
Territorial Force	6,000
Various Departments	180

Total 25,000

The "muse" bands of the Foot Guards, Household Cavalry, Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, Royal Marines, and the Royal School of Music, with the bands of single units, will provide 2,000 performers.

A bill providing that no woman shall be permitted to work more than nine hours in any day or more than fifteen hours in any week in Missouri will take effect June 20, and most of the factories, stores and laundries will have to recast their schedules before that time.

Sir Clement Kinloch-Goodie contributes to The North American Review a sympathetic character sketch of her Majesty Queen Mary. Intended mainly for American readers, it will be read with pleasure by Canadians generally. Her majesty, says Sir Clement, has a very retentive memory. Once she has mastered a subject, it seldom goes out of her mind, and months afterwards she will astonish her friends by referring to a conversation they themselves had forgotten. During the tour of the streets of Hobart, she recognized a man in the crowd, and remarked to her lady-in-waiting that he had been a convict at first sight when she was a girl and his name began with C, and that she had heard him preach two or three times. On inquiry it turned out that he was the same man, and that his name was C—n. It would be clever to have remembered him had the queen met him after an interval of ten years, but in a passing crowd in far-away Tasmania it was extraordinary.

As a natural result of such good memory the queen has something to say to everyone, and the personal touch this gift imparts to her conversation gratifies and charms all with whom she is brought into contact.

Fond of Music.

Music has a great share in the home life at White Lodge, the musical hour in the drawing room being at one time a regular institution, and often the duchess would sit down at the piano in the evenings and sing ballads from the popular operettas of the day. The queen has a sweet voice, a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor Sir Isidoro Taylor. Of late years, however, her majesty has given up her singing; and, although retaining her fondness for music, she rarely finds much time to devote to the piano.

Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance, or that have attracted public cave dwellers.

The Montreal scientist who is in Vancouver on a lecturing tour will organize in this city, before his departure, a branch of the department of Canada of the Archaeological Institute of America.

"The Institute" said Dr. Eaton "is at present organizing an exploration campaign in Western Canada. This year several men from McGill will go into the rainy river country in Manitoba and the western districts of British Columbia, and will open up the Indian mounds that exist there. The complete excavation of the mounds will be made out, but parties will not enter the mounds of British Columbia and the complete excavation of the mounds of the Institute.

Among the northern tribes of Indians, it is hoped, Mr. Eaton can secure a great fund of tribal history, and legend that will be of interest to future generations. Indian and Eskimo mummies, and other objects of interest will be secured. Their music will be investigated and their languages.

"This must be done," said Dr. Eaton, "before it gets too late, for the Indians are passing away."

Dr. Eaton resigns this year after 25 years as professor of classics at McGill University. During that time he has ministered to the intellectual wants of at least 150 men yearly. Probably that is why he is so well known throughout the world.

There are scores in Vancouver—prominent business and professional men, and many of the most successful in the city—who are interested in the work of Dr. Eaton. And so there are all through the American and Canadian west.

"In Spokane" said Dr. Eaton "I found that the mayor of the city was a graduate of McGill, and that his two brothers were also."

CORONATION TOYS.

Many Speculators Get Their Money Back With Good Interest.

If anybody wants to make some money, now is his time. There are the warehouses packed from roof to roof with toys in readiness for the coronation, mostly all of them new, and in passing, of home manufacture. At the last Coronation, the Germans swamped the market with novelties, toys, and so forth, but this time they have been forestalled. Now, if anybody can tell which of the toys is certain to "go on" in June—well, need more be said?

Fortunes have been sunk in Coronation toys; but many speculators will get their money back with good interest. Of a certain very popular article of this kind more than two millions have been sold, and one—another toy made $140,000 out of it.

Even "charity novelties"—the penny articles vendible by street merchants—sometimes yield "big money." One of the most successful was invented by a manufacturer of such things. When he conceived the idea he was so sure it would "go" that he decided not to try it tentatively, but to turn out a large quantity before offering one for sale. So he kept making it till he had a stock of two millions!

He then engaged a few score aliens and had them taught, parrot-fashion, several phrases of English. As soon as they were better-perfect, out they were sent with absolutely "the latest novelty," which proved, as the manufacturer confidently anticipated, an enormous success. Incredible as it may seem, it is none the less a fact that in ten days considerably more than a million were sold.

Her attention during the last two decades, she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce, and on returning from the theatre, or afterwards in conversation, often makes allusion to some particularly amusing part of the performance.

The queen is greatly attached to the history of her country, and has collected together quite a number of interesting things connected with the royal family. As a girl, she always enjoyed going over museums and inspecting articles of antiquity; a trait in her character which has widened with years. She has an intimate knowledge of old silver and china, and possesses a valuable collection of objects d'art.

A Great Reader.

The queen has always been a great reader, and her household at White Lodge contained a little case of favorite books, prominent amongst them being Tennyson's Poems. Books of travel and biographies are seldom missed, for the queen does not read for mere passing pleasure, but for instruction and information. Novels of themselves do not appeal to her majesty, but she has read and re-read classic works of fiction, and any novel by a well-known writer, or that is specially recommended to her, at once receives her attention.

Her majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important parliamentary debates, occupying a seat in the Peers' gallery in the house of lords and in the Speaker's gallery in the house of commons. A chance meeting in a country house led to her being invited to White Lodge, and being honored with the friendship of the Duke and Duchess of Teck. At the time I was helping with the house of lords' inquiry into the sweating system, and well do I remember the great interest taken by the queen in the matter. She never tires of hearing about the workers, and would join with questions about the chain-makers, the seamstresses and the other folk who are struggling for wages, until I thoroughly believe she knew as much about the conditions and requirements of these people as I did myself.

Alberta Parliament Building Under Construction

The work of constructing the Provincial Parliament Buildings is progressing at a satisfactory rate. The legislative wing will be completed early in the fall.

luxurious times. Below the hill, immediately within the range of vision, is the old Hudson Bay fort, whence emanated in the times of rule and law justice, the unwritten decrees which formed the basis of government in the early days of the fur trade and the home rule. From these windows also may be seen the high level bridge, now rising into the air, and the new parliament building, which will be the new future lines with beautiful driveways, and city parks around the fine sweep of the river will be one of the most desirable in the west.

Since the fall session of 1910, the government builders have confined their attention mainly to this south wing, in order that no delay may be occasioned in the opening of the session this year. The roof of the wing is even now well under way, and throughout the summer and fall of 1911 the finishing of the interior, and the carving of exterior masonry which requires the skilled labor of master artists for its completion.

Two detached columns in the interior on each of the four sides of the hall, and angle flusters at the corners, brought together with a moulded cornice extending around the chamber, are now claiming the attention of the builders, and the large barrel vault with coffered beams and decorative architectural glass skylight, with elliptical lunettes, must be completed within the next few months. Prehistoric Chamber of Rock Found Prospectors Discover Subterranean Room Out Thousands of Years Ago in Solid Rock Near Sheep Creek—Skilled Workmanship.

In the side of a mountain near the Sheep Creek gold mining camp, 25 miles south of Nelson, B. C., prospectors report the discovery of a strange subterranean chamber recently, which was undoubtedly carved out by the sound rock by some prehistoric race of people, maybe ten thousand years ago.

Probably 25 feet square, the walls of this stone room are perfectly plumb, and its ceiling and floors are level. A wide passage probably 25 feet long, leads into it. The dome of this passage is arched, and it appears to have been wrought with practiced hands.

From the centre of the ceiling of the square chamber, a shaft has been hewn at right angles with the surface of the ceiling. This shaft was maybe five feet square, and it appears to have been cut by the same hands that carved the chamber. In two of its sides have been chiselled deep grooves, oblong in shape, and it appears to have been cut by the same hands that carved the chamber. In two of its sides have been chiselled deep grooves, oblong in shape, and it appears to have been cut by the same hands that carved the chamber.

Dr. Eaton had not heard of the finding of the strange cave at Sheep Creek camp. When it was described to him however, he stated that those interested in the Archaeological Institute of America were aware of the existence of many such remains throughout the east of a prehistoric civilization. This particular find was very likely the remains of mine workings begun ages ago, maybe

CORONATION DRESS

The Names of the Seven Royal Train-Bearers.

The queen having decided that her train at her Coronation shall be borne by seven daughters of earls, is now considering what their costumes shall be. According to precedent, they wear white, and will be dressed precisely alike. Her majesty will present to each of her attendants a handsome souvenir of the occasion, and she will probably be the only ornament they will be permitted to wear. The pages who attend the queen wear a uniform of scarlet, white and gold, and carry old-fashioned three-cornered hats with plumes under their arms.

The following are the train-bearers:

Lady Eileen Butler, daughter of the Earl of Lanesborough.

Lady Mary Dawson, daughter of the Earl of Dartrey.

Lady Mabel Ogilby, daughter of the late Earl of Arlic and the Countess of Arlic.

Lady Victoria Carrington, daughter of Earl Carrington.

Lady Jean Cochrane, daughter of the Earl of Dundonald.

Lady Eileen Knox, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Banbury.

Lady Adelaide Spencer, daughter of Earl Spencer.

Oliver Takes The Defensive At Investigation

The process of the Oliver investigation, so far as it has gone, shows very clearly that it is not the intention of the minister to offer any explanation of where the money came from, but rather to go on the defensive and put it up to the investigation to discover whether or not he got the money from the Canadian Northern for switching the land grant of the Manitoba & Southern from the eastern part of Manitoba to the central plains of Saskatchewan.

The position which Mr. Oliver takes is entirely of his own choosing. As a public man he owes it to the public to have no secrets from the public. If he chooses to place himself in the position where he admits by his actions that he has a secret which he defies the investigation to pry out of him, there are restrictions placed on the investigation which permit him to do so.

But there is no constitutional reason why the electors are bound to continue their confidence in a minister who will not take the electors into his confidence. Confidence is reciprocal. The public has as much right to ask Mr. Oliver for an explanation of where he got the money as Mr. Oliver has to ask the electors for their votes.

Council Following Court's Decision In The Investigation

When the friends of Commissioner Bouillon sought and secured an injunction restraining the council from dismissing a commissioner without an investigation, the Journal, which poses as the Bouillon organ on everything except gas, was loud in declaring that the city council had no option but to follow Judge Stuart's dictum and hold an investigation at which charges should be laid against the commissioner and at which the commissioner should have an opportunity to employ counsel to defend himself and to assist him in answering the charges.

Judge Stuart intimated that the parties to make these charges were the members of the council who believed that public interest would be best served by the dismissal of the commissioner in question.

The Journal now veers from its original position and asks that the council call in a supreme court judge or name a commission entirely separate from the council to hear the charges, upon whose finding the commissioner would go or stay.

The Journal's position is impossible. The charter does not give any tribunal other than the council power to discharge a commissioner. A judge of the supreme court has no power under the charter to even recommend that a commissioner be kept or dismissed. The council is the only body that has the power to investigate or to dismiss. If the council, in its process of investigation and its findings on the investigation, comes to a wrong conclusion, the members responsible for this wrongful conclusion will be held answerable to the ratepayers. On this point both the Bulletin and the Journal have made emphatic declarations, and both publications have waved the danger signal at the council, warning the aldermen of what would happen to them at the next election.

The members of the council who are promoting the investigation are doing it exactly according to the lines described by the court and are willing to accept the responsibility of answering to the public for what they are doing.

The difficulty with the Journal is that it does not understand the real meaning of Judge Stuart's decision. The court did not intimate that the council had no power to dismiss a commissioner, nor suggest that it should call upon the supreme court to help the city get rid of its ten-thousand-dollar incubus. What Judge Stuart's decision did mean was that the council has the power and the right to dismiss the commissioner if it had reason to do so, but before doing so it should establish the reason, and he gave the council an outline of how the reasons for so doing should be established.

The council is following the court's decision. The Journal, which was wildly enthusiastic in its pursuit of the injunction, is now in despair because the council is following the lines laid down in the judgment which went with the injunction.

No Occasion for Aldermanic Anxiety Over Gas Agreement

While it would not be fair to suggest that the anxiety shown by Alderman Lundy to get the International Heating and Lighting company's franchise agreement through the council to the exclusion of all others is promoted by anything but public spirit, it is difficult to see on what grounds the alderman justifies his anxiety.

The city of Edmonton will not suffer any terrible calamity if Cyrus S. Eaton is compelled to spend a few days more in the city in his still-hunt for a franchise. On the contrary, Mr. Eaton is good company and those who know him best would be most regretful to see him leave.

But there are other gas propositions before the city and not the least of these is a proposition to build for the city a municipal plant. Until the city finds out what this proposition amounts to it could not afford to be stampeded into a franchise agreement.

The franchise which Alderman Lundy proposes to give away is something of real value. If the city can retain it, why should the city be in any hurry to give it away? And why should the city place in the hands of a franchise company the control of a utility which will come directly into competition with the city's electric light and power enterprises?

Alderman Lundy is on record as being of opinion that the ratepayers would not vote for a municipal plant. If such is his opinion, he should have no hesitation in supporting a bylaw to place the municipal project before the ratepayers. With such a bylaw defeated, the ground would be cleared for the granting of a franchise and Alderman Lundy's judgment would be vindicated.

Of course the result might prove that Alderman Lundy's guess was wrong, but under any circumstances Alderman Lundy would have saved the strenuous and no doubt profitless chore of piloting the International agreement through the city council.

Amalgamation Presents Opportunity to Abandon Archaic Tax Systems

In the negotiations for the amalgamation of Edmonton and Strathcona one of the most important questions to be settled will be the basis of taxation in the amalgamated municipality.

To adopt, as has been suggested, the present Edmonton method of taxation and apply the same to both cities is an arrangement which Strathcona would be foolish to accept and which, should Strathcona be foolish enough to accept, would almost certainly drive every merchant off Whyte Avenue and onto Jasper.

As the tax systems stand at the present time there is a floor space assessment in both Edmonton and Strathcona under which merchants pay not according to the value of their sites, but according to the number of square feet in the floor area of their places of business.

The stores of Strathcona, having been built on the liberal and expensive lines on which stores catering to the agricultural trade usually are, present more floor space to the thousand dollars' worth of goods by a enormous proportion than do the stores on Jasper avenue.

On the other hand the number of potential customers, as represented by those who pass the door, is enormously greater in Edmonton than in Strathcona and the difference in site value is therefore decidedly to the advantage of the Edmonton merchant.

Yet if the twin city amalgamation were to adopt the Edmonton system of taxation for the two towns, with a uniform assessment for both, the Strathcona merchant, with his larger floor space to the unit of stock value would be paying exactly the same taxation per square foot of floor space as the Edmonton merchant with every conceivable advantage over him.

It is manifest that Strathcona would be foolish to go into any such a deal as this.

On the other hand, if Strathcona insisted on the land tax system, the Whyte Avenue merchant would be on an exact parity with the Jasper Avenue merchant, and vice versa, for the reason that the basis of taxation would be the site value, which is expressed in the value of the property per foot front under which arrangements the man whose location was such that the greatest number of potential customers passed his door would pay the highest taxes.

Whether the merchant was owner of the property or merely lessee would make no difference whatever. The taxes are paid by the occupant under any circumstances, whether paid directly or included in the rent.

The amalgamation negotiations present the opportune circumstances under which to discard the floor space tax and all the other archaic systems of taxation at present in existence in Edmonton and swing over entirely to the land tax.

When Edmonton and Strathcona adopt this system of taxation they will experience the same siege of prosperity that other cities which have gone absolutely over to that system have enjoyed.

CHATEAUGUAY? WHAT WAS IT?

Washington Paper Says That School Histories Have Forgotten to Put in Defeat of Americans.

Washington, May 19.—Fine fun does the Washington Post make at Canada in its recent editorial, "What Canada Got Our Goat." Amid their jocular remarks we find 1812-15 history summed up as follows: "Ashton is to think, Americans, at least most of us, will strain our intellects to no purpose in efforts to recall the story of the battle of Chateaugay, where the large army of Yankee chivalry showed its heels to a corporal's guard of various Canucks. The school histories thrilled our beings with joyous acclamation of the exploits of our army on the Canadian border—Perry's brilliant naval triumph, old Tippecanoe's crushing blow to the allies at the Thames, Scott's victories at Chippewa and Lumbee's victory at the destruction of the enemy's fleet on Lake Champlain, and the severe check a handful of Americans gave Provost at Plattsburgh. As against these bright pages from the war of 1812, the histories told of Hull's cowardly retreat before the Canadians and his surrender of Detroit, and also of the disastrous assault upon Quebec Heights, but until now we had not been reminded of the most signal reverse that befell the flowers of American manhood on the bloody fields of Chateaugay."

As a matter of fact, the school histories of the great republic, even including a "Condensed History of the United States," compiled by Lieut. Charles Bradley to aid candidates for entrance into the United States Military Academy, say not one word about the surrender of Chateaugay. Therefore, it is not to be greatly wondered at that editors on this side of the line confuse the Mohawks of Chateaugay with the heroes of Chateaugay. More's the pity that the true lessons of history should have been obliged to succumb to the usual trucking, which is not appreciated by the politicians, nor understood by the people of the United States.

Indeed, so foreign is this class of procedure to that in vogue among the patriotic people that such actions give rise rather to suspicion or mistrust. Why should any people refuse to give historical honor to its heroes and their deeds? It is so unnatural that Americans can hardly be blamed should they think that surely it means that Canadians or Britons must want to get something out of the people to whom they truckle! Every day the contrary spirit is acted on here, taken as a matter of course and glorified in.

led in. But four days ago it was announced that suitable inscriptions for the John Paul Jones' monument, to be erected at the foot of Seventeenth street in Potomac park, are soon to be selected by the monument commission, consisting of the secretary of war, secretary of the navy and chairman of the senate and house of representatives library committees. Then but nine days ago President Taft and the French ambassador took part in the unveiling of a monument erected at Annapolis to the memory of the French troops who came across the water in 1777 and gave that assistance to the revolting colonies, without which they would not have succeeded in defeating the British troops. Both the president and the ambassador alluded to the statues of Marquis de Lafayette and Rochambeau in Lafayette square in the capital city of Washington, where those of the Prussian Baron von Steuben, Kosciuszko and General Andrew Jackson, we have this square, a splendid tribute to the Revolutionary war. When their first great naval hero, John Paul Jones, is provided for, and the many monuments to Washington and the great paintings of British surrenders in the capital are included, the lustre of Revolutionary deeds will soon glow. Then last month congress gave $250,000 toward a great Perry victory memorial and celebration to recall his defeat of a British fleet in 1813. Yet we in Canada, or in Britain, cannot reproduce, even temporarily, the Americans are "astonished" about "Chateaugay!"

According to an exchange of recent date there is a sad outlook for civic officials should the plan set in operation by the University of Rochester become general throughout the country. It is said that at the University of Rochester they are trying to arouse the intelligent interest of students in civic government. The authorities have prescribed a new course for seniors in civics or citizenship. The students are required to make a study of Rochester as a typical municipality. They are to examine the charter, to study the form of government, the finances, the health regulations, the philanthropies, the religious life, and every other aspect of municipal existence. Having investigated Rochester, it is expected that when the graduates are dispersed into various cities or towns of the country they will be able to take not only an intelligent interest in the conduct of local government, but will also be able to point out practical remedies for existing abuses.

The total cost to the International Association of Machinists of financing the Missouri Pacific strike, which lasted from June 1, 1910, to February 28, 1911, according to complete statement just issued, was $16,662.94.

TO THE BUSINESS MEN OF EDMONTON AND VICINITY:

The following article, No. 11, is a brief statement of the business of the Edmonton Portland Cement Co. as a manufacturing proposition. The facts speak for themselves.

ARTICLE NUMBER ELEVEN

Article No. 12, which will appear in all of the Edmonton daily papers tomorrow, concludes this series concerning the Edmonton Portland Cement Company. Thereafter a series of reports will appear from time to time setting forth the progress of the Company.

The purpose of this article is to set forth the simplicity of the proposition with which the Edmonton Portland Cement Company has to deal. Manufacturing usually involves many complications and difficulties, with comparatively small profits as compared with the investment, the technical knowledge of the business required, and the risks involved.

PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURE COMPARED WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES

Take for instance the manufacture of clothing: First the materials must be assembled and these themselves are manufactured products—this means a great investment; then a large amount of skilled labor must be employed; then a great selling force must be maintained to dispose of the product against keen and well organized competition; and, finally the bills must be collected on an average of six months from the time the sales are made, eight or nine months from the time the goods are manufactured, and a year or more after the investment is made in the raw materials. In an ultimate output of $100,000, at least $85,000 will have been previously invested in raw materials, labor, cost of selling and overhead expense, including plant depreciation. No one but an experienced manufacturer realizes the measure of possible grief that is contained in this little narrative.

The processes of Portland Cement manufacture are so simple as to stand without parallel in the industrial world.

There is first the initial plant investment, which in the case of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company will be about $630,000. All the buildings will be permanently built—of reinforced concrete construction.

PERPETUAL SUPPLY OF MATERIALS AT FIVE CENTS PER BARREL

There will be no investment in materials whatever except the investment included in the original organization of the Company. A portion of the stock has been set apart to pay for the property, including all the materials which the Company will use in the next forty years, and including also the entire compensation of the directors for the next two years. And the stock set apart for this purpose amounts to JUST FIVE CENTS A BARREL on the materials which have already been surveyed and NOTHING AT ALL for the materials which have not yet been surveyed and which will be thrown in for good measure. In other words the Edmonton Portland Cement Company has bought the raw materials for its operations for the next forty years at 5 cents a barrel and paid for them in stock. The only other material used in the manufacture of Portland Cement besides the marl and clay, which have already been purchased, is Gypsum, and that costs only 1½ cents per barrel.

NO LABOR PROBLEM INVOLVED

The labor problem in Portland Cement Manufacture is simple because the processes are simple. They are these:

1. The marl and clay are each dried and ground separately.
2. The ground marl and clay are then mixed in proper proportions and burned together in the great rotary kiln. The resulting clinker is then ground into Portland Cement.

Only 130 men will be employed at the plant of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company and of these only FIVE will be skilled labor.

The Superintendent.
The Engineer.
Two Burners.
The Chemist.

All the others will be common labor.

COST OF MANUFACTURE ONE-FOURTH OF SELLING PRICE

With these explanations the table prepared by Messrs. Hassan and Klossoski, showing the cost per barrel of manufacturing Portland Cement will be more readily understood. It is as follows:

Coal at $2.50 per ton, 130 lbs. per barrel	$.16
Coal for drying clay	.01
Power at ¾¢ per h.p. hour	.17
Labor, 130 men at $372 per day	.31
Gypsum	.01½
Office and Sales, $60 per day	.05
Insurance and taxes	.01½
Small supplies and repairs	.02
Depreciation not included in above	.03
	$.78

It will be seen that the total cash investment by the Edmonton Portland Cement Company in the manufacture of a barrel of Cement is 78 cents.

NO SELLING FORCE REQUIRED

No selling force will be required. The market is already right here and the demand for Portland Cement in the Edmonton district alone is 100,000 barrels per year, more than the capacity of the proposed new mill. The City of Edmonton needs 25,000 barrels of Portland Cement right today. A great deal of public work is waiting on it, and there is not a bag to be had in this city. In the City of Calgary, which has two Cement Plants, 300 men are idle, because not a bag of Portland Cement can be had for work that is now under way. Edmonton Portland Cement Company can sell its entire output at its mill door and at the market price, without the employment of a single selling agent.

The market price of Portland Cement in the Edmonton district is fixed by the cost of manufacture at Eastern mills plus freight rates to this market. The present price is about $3.12 per barrel, and it will never be less for the reason that the cost of manufacturing at other mills will increase with the growing difficulties in finding materials for Cement manufacture.

No appreciable credit is involved in selling Portland Cement. It is sold by the mills only to large dealers and construction companies and strictly on sixty days.

LOW COST OF CONSTRUCTION AND QUICK AND SURE RETURNS

Now to put the foregoing facts together. The Edmonton Portland Cement Company can produce a hundred thousand barrels of Portland Cement upon an investment of $780,000 and sell its product immediately for $305,000 less a freight charge of $25,000. And if it should by any possibility need money for the operation of its business, it can warehouse its product and borrow $1.00 a barrel on the warehouse receipts. That is to say, the collateral value of its product will always be more than the cost of manufacture. But it will not be necessary for the Edmonton Portland Cement Company to borrow money for the reason that it will start business with an eight months' working capital, and will be manufacturing a 60 day staple against a market which will always exceed the capacity of the mill.

A THOROUGH BUSINESS PROPOSITION

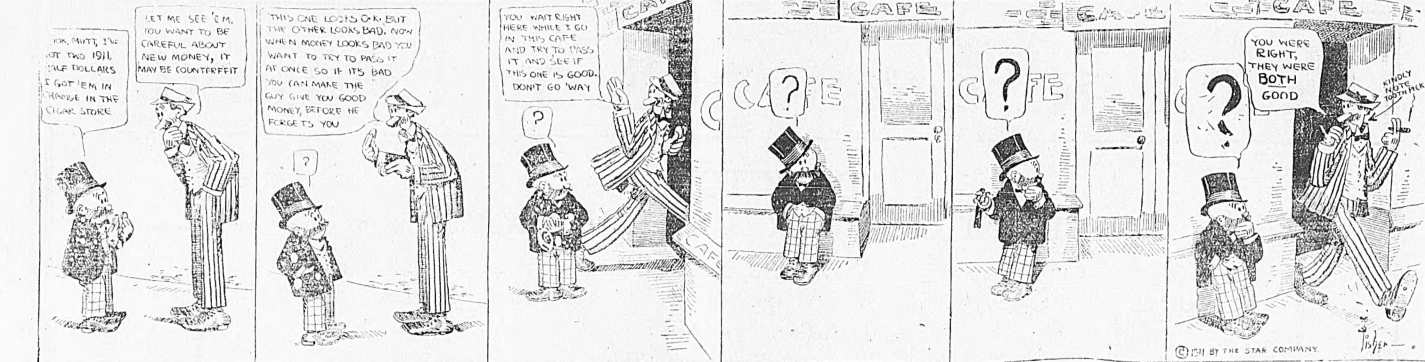

No one likes 40 per cent. dividends any better, nor appreciates rapidly increasing values any more sincerely, than the hard-headed business man "from Missouri." But if this self-same hard-headed business man will just take time to analyze THE FACTS of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company, he will convince himself that if he does not become a stockholder in the Company, he will miss more than the Company does.

SASKATOON DOPE

Saskatoon May 15.—As far as strength enters the line-up is concerned, the promoters of the Saskatoon ball team are going to have a good deal to say. A telegram has been sent to a twirler named Sanford at Louisville offering him a berth with the local outfit and there are reports that he will accept. Another obtained from Chicago, "Scouts are on hand in all directions and if money can be obtained in getting together a good team the local managers will not stint its use at all."

Regina, Sask., May 19.—The Chiflinan and Brewry lacrosse championship cups for many years held at Regina are to be kicked up and sent to Winnipeg in accordance with the decision of the trustees, it being held that Regina is no longer affiliated with Western Canada Lacrosse association. Local lacrosse players had hoped to be given opportunity of defending the mugs but the trustees ordered otherwise. There is a strong feeling here that Saskatchewan should organize lacrosse association of its own, and leave Manitoba to fight out its own lacrosse battles.

The Y. M. C. A. Intermediates won from the Cambridge Swifts 3-2 in a game that was a hard-fought, exciting battle. The Swifts defeated the suburban team by three to two. The scoring was all done in the first half. The Y. M. C. Heavy kicking and hard charging, however, did not prevent the Swifts from scoring. The Swifts' work in goal was one of the features of the game. The Swifts' goal was held by the Y. M. C. NEW BUILDINGS TO FURNISH AND ADORN UNIVERSITY GROUNDS

CONSTRUCTION EXPECTED TO BEGIN THIS SEASON ON DUPLICATE TO DORMITORY IN STRATHCONA—OTHER BUILDINGS ALSO CONTEMPLATED.

Although no official announcement has been made it is expected that construction work will commence this summer on another building on the University grounds in Strathcona, which will be the exact duplicate of the dormitory building now about complete and in which university classes will begin with the opening of the fall term.

The general plans for the University grounds as prepared from the best designs of college grounds obtainable, call for three dormitory buildings in a row, one of which will be placed on each side of the one already erected. It is on the second of these buildings that work will proceed this summer, the one which will be situated on the north side of the present site.

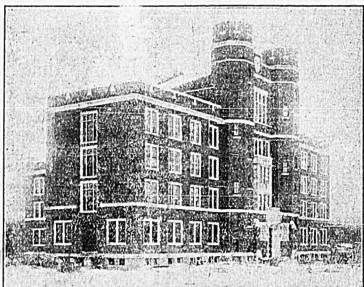

The three dormitories or residence buildings will face east toward the interior of a re-entrance, on the opposite side of which the applied sciences buildings will be erected, if the present plan of grounds is carried out. Construction work on the new building of which the foundation was laid last spring, will not be carried on this summer. At the beginning of the fall term accommodation for the university students will be furnished in the dormitory building. It is a four-story extending over the central part of the building only, and being equipped for a boy's gymnasium. All the class rooms are situated on the first floor as are also the assembly hall and the library. The assembly hall will furnish accommodation for three hundred persons and the doors entering into it can be thrown open so as to give seating accommodation for 175 students. The kitchen is at the rear of the dining room facing the west. The space on the third floor above the dining room and kitchen is given over to residences, as are also the second, third and fourth floors of the main part of the building.

In all there are sixty-five bed rooms in the building, furnishing quarters for 140 students. The double bedrooms are all 12 by 15 feet in size while the single rooms vary from 8 by 15 feet to 9 by 15 feet.

There are six single rooms on each floor. The basement of the building is being arranged for store rooms, laundry, trunk room, heating plant, girl's gymnasium and quarters for help. The trunks of all the students arriving at the college will be delivered in the basement and taken to the upper floors by means of an elevator. After their structure including the basement. The north wing and the entire top floor have been arranged for class rooms. In the basement of the north wing the office of the provincial bacteriologist formerly situated in the provincial government building, has been established. The science departments of the university will also be established on the ground floor of the building until the accommodation in other edifices is found for them. When the fall term begins the dormitory will be used for a residence building and for classes, and will furnish accommodation for 160 students.

Work will probably commence on the residence for President Tully and three of the professors this summer. These will be situated on the extension of Saskatchewan avenue through the University grounds.

The Methodist college facing on Eighth street west and situated to the right of the foundation of the arts building, is now practically complete and regular classes have been held in the building since January 1st. It is a five-story structure, the top floor contents have been removed they will be returned to the basement for storage.

The storehouse for all the domestic supplies is situated in the basement beneath the south wing of the building. The heating plant is in part of the basement that has been made thoroughly fire proof and the laundry is out of entirely from the other parts of the building so that no steam or smell of soaps from this department can penetrate the upper stories.

The building was erected at a cost of $130,000.

Construction of the Presbyterian college on the University grounds will not proceed this year although it is expected that classes will commence in connection with Presbyterian theological education next fall. It will take years to complete the plan of buildings for the university grounds as laid out at present and a considerable sum of money will be spent each season in adding buildings to the general plan and assistance may be granted by students and the demand for higher education warrants it.

The route of the guaranteed line will be changed by the amending act to read as follows:

A line of railway of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, from point at or near Edmonton or St. Albert, Alberta, thence in a generally westerly direction to the coal areas situated on the company's authorized line at or near Brule Lake in Jasper Park, and to provide that such aid and assistance may be granted by these resolutions proposed to be substituted in said act for the line thereina described.

A second clause provided that the securities guaranteed shall be secured by a deed of trust by way of mortgage or charge approved by the governor in council and that such deed of trust will grant a first mortgage upon 100 miles of railway and its property.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE."

The offering at the Empire Theatre, May 25, 26 and 27, is the newest success in the line of musical extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle." Under the direction of a cleverly written in two acts, "The Cat and the Fiddle" has three acts and 19 gorgeous scenes, bristling of new ideas, novelties, surprises, illusions, transformations, chorus numbers, song hits, etc.

It tells an imaginative tale of love and mysticism and of Eve, which together with certain earth beings of the "Mystic" era, form a play upon which much original fun and wit is founded.

There are magical great gods and his consort "Greece," a good fairy, zemi, and her wonderful gigantic cat; there are sprites, elf, gnomes and elves among the immortals, which the earth beings include a witty tramp, a humorous Irishman, a funny Dutchman, the twin sisters, the notorious sea captain and his beautiful daughter.

The musical numbers include "Bosco Brown," a comic duet, a conversational song and dance, "I've Never Been Introduced To You," by the "Paster" girls, "Mutter and the Fiddle," by the "Baby Dolls"; "In the Shadow of an Old Tree"; "The Almanac for 1822," "The Sea," "My Maid in the Moon," and several others, all said to be catchy and all written by Carlotta Combs.

Forty people are promised in the company, which is headed by Harry B. Watson as the chief fun makers; The Boytons, Rose and Arthur, as the twins; Matty Martz, as "Greece"; Geo. E. Wakefield, as the Gigantic Great Gods, and J. O. Campbell as the Lieutenant.

"A CHARMING PAIR" MADE GOOD.

Sherman and Cleveland's merry-makers presented "A Charming Pair" at the Lyceum last night in a very delightful manner. The play is bright, breezy, witty, and goes with the swing and bang that is so essential in musical comedy. The songs are cleverly well rendered and as well received. The plot concerns a young married couple who are always quarreling, a spinster aunt, looking for a husband, and an elderly barrister, whose particular hobby is match-making. Jack Gooden and assistance may be granted by these resolutions proposed to be substituted in said act for the line thereina described.

Managers Dorian of the Quakers copied a real regular pitch when he signed Albert the great.

If the great pitch went to heel back there are several clubs willing to take him. Major League scouts are sizing up George Williams, a Col. pitcher who has trained both Yale and Princeton.

Imperial Conference Will Open on Monday

DISTINGUISHED MEN REPRESENTING THE BRITISH COLONIES GATHER IN LONDON FOR IMPORTANT CONCLAVE—CANADA ABLY REPRESENTED.

London, May 19.—The arrival of the distinguished representatives of the self-governed British colonies to the Imperial Conference which is to be formally opened here next Monday has aroused intense interest in the important convocation, which will probably continue until a few days before the Coronation month. Everything is in readiness for the conference, which promises to be the most fruitful ever held in London. The last previous conference was held in 1907 and it was then provided that the meetings should be held every four years.

Every one of the dominions sent representatives and in most cases they were accompanied by small parties consisting of their families and important officials. From Canada came Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Minister of Education, Sir E. B. Bok, Secretary to the Prime Minister and Interpreter, and several bodies. The delegation from New Zealand includes Sir J. G. Ward, K.C.M.G., the Prime Minister, the Hon. J. G. P. Mulvey, K.C., Attorney-General and Colonial Secretary and their wives. The government of Newfoundland is represented by the Prime Minister, Gen. Louis Botha, Sir Valda Grant, the Hon. W. A. Mahon, Minister of Education, Sir E. B. Bok, Secretary to the Prime Minister and Interpreter, and several bodies. The delegation from New Zealand includes Sir J. G. Ward, K.C.M.G., the Prime Minister, the Hon. J. G. P. Mulvey, K.C., Attorney-General and Colonial Secretary and their wives. The government of Newfoundland is represented by the Prime Minister, Gen. Louis Botha, Sir Valda Grant, the Hon. W. A. Mahon, Minister of Education, Sir E. B. Bok, Secretary to the Prime Minister and Interpreter, and several bodies.

The Union of South Africa is represented by the Prime Minister, Gen. Louis Botha, Sir Valda Grant, the Hon. W. A. Mahon, Minister of Education, Sir E. B. Bok, Secretary to the Prime Minister and Interpreter, and several bodies. The delegation from New Zealand includes Sir J. G. Ward, K.C.M.G., the Prime Minister, the Hon. J. G. P. Mulvey, K.C., Attorney-General and Colonial Secretary and their wives. The government of Newfoundland is represented by the Prime Minister, Gen. Louis Botha, Sir Valda Grant, the Hon. W. A. Mahon, Minister of Education, Sir E. B. Bok, Secretary to the Prime Minister and Interpreter, and several bodies.

At the Imperial Conference in 1907, the Ministers and officials will be the guests of the Government until the close of the conference. On the termination of the conference the Prime Ministers will cease to be the guests of the government, but will remain in the hotel Galt, where they are quartered, as the guests of King George until after the Coronation festivities.

WESTERN THEATRE COMPANY FORMED

PROMINENT THEATRICAL MAN INCORPORATES PRODUCTION CO. FOR WESTERN BUSINESS

For the purpose of furnishing Western Canada with theatrical attractions which will be of a class up to the standard in this country and which will be equipped in a manner to show to the best advantage in the houses at the disposal of companies travelling his circuit, Thomas Whiffin is incorporating a company under Alberta laws and proposing to enlist Alberta capital in his undertaking.

Mr. Whiffin is a theatrical man of extensive experience. He has been in the "Kissing Girl" company, with which organization he played for some time, and has had the management of many large companies, having been out for such companies as Klam and Edmon, Savage, Traubman, and others among the top notchers of theatrical production.

He points out, "What almost all the companies that come into this country do not come equipped to play Western Canada, but on the contrary are usually equipped for much smaller cities with much larger houses to play in and much larger stages to play upon, with the result that no matter how meritorious the production, much of its beauty and balance is lost owing to this inappropriateness of scenery to the facilities. He contends that it is quite possible to get the artistic effect in a small house as well as in a large one, providing that the companies and the properties are equipped for the house in which they are to play, and he proposes to go to New York and there select some of the best companies in America backed this country, and ready for the business they will cater to give Western Canadians the real thing in the theatrical line at a price which will not be greater than that at present charged by some companies which are mediocre, to say the least."

Mr. Whiffin contends that Western Canada is paying enough money now to get the very best in the theatrical line, but that it is not getting it, and he believes that by starting companies, especially equipped to play in this country he can reap a rich harvest.

The corporate name of the company will be the Canada Theatrical Productions Company, with registered offices in Edmonton. The corporation proposes to own the companies which it routes through western Canada, thereby having absolute control of the bookings and routes. If capital can be enlisted in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Regina and other western cities the corporation will be able to bring a string of companies through the west by the time the next theatrical season opens. The capital stock of the company is $300,000 and there will be no promotion stock.

Three Edmontonians, Mr. W. A. Mahon, real estate man, Albert E. Nash of Nash and Soars, and S. R. Farquhar of the Saturday News are the names on the incorporation papers.

Accident insurance amounting to $100,000 has been taken out on the Cleveland players. If this is true, the company would be able to take $200,000 on the Broadway Dancers.

DECIDE ON NAMES OF TWO COMMISSIONERS

Reported that Committee will Recommend to City Council tonight Appointment of S. W. Candy and D. B. Fraser.

At the adjourned meeting of the council this evening the commission board of the city will be increased from three to five members. Just who the new commissioners will be, the members of the committee appointed to bring in a report, recommending two citizens to fill the positions, and Mayor Armstrong would make, no statement this morning declaring that no definite announcement would be made until the committee's report is laid on the council table this evening.

The Capital has learned on good authority, however, that S. W. Candy and ex-Alderman D. B. Fraser will be appointed, and interviews with those gentlemen today proves the report which has been in circulation for several days.

Interviewed this morning, Mr. Candy stated that he would not say that he was one of those selected for a commissionership. "I will have nothing to say until I am appointed," said Mr. Candy, at the conclusion of the interview. "What is your attitude with regard to awarding a franchise for the supplying of gas in the city?" asked the Capital man. "Anyone who knows me will tell you that I am a municipal ownership man," was the reply. "When I go into the commission board, I will go in as an independent. There are no strings tied to me. I have not been asked any questions regarding my views on any subject by any of the aldermen or by the mayor. I will do what I consider to be right and in the interests of the city."

Ex-Alderman Fraser had very little to say. He would not deny that he had been asked to do the logs of commissioner. Neither would he deny that he had accepted and would enter the service of the city tomorrow morning. He would do what he considered proper on all questions and would not be tied to the apron strings of any faction in the council or out of the council.

"Yes, Mr. Candy and Mr. Fraser will be appointed commissioners tonight," was the statement made to the Capital by one of the aldermen at noon today. The alderman in question further stated that the appointments would not be permanent, neither would one or both of the new commissioners get ten thousand dollars per year. "What we want to do is to decide this power machinery question as soon as possible," said he. "If the new machinery is not ordered in the near future the city will be short of power before the new unit can be installed, and the council will be blamed for not taking charge of things and purchasing a plant to meet the requirements of the city. If we continue to dilly dally along we will find that some night this winter the plant will go out of commission and with no reserve machinery to take its place."

The alderman also pointed out that the construction season has now started and two more commissioners are needed to keep in touch with the operation and extension of the various utilities. He pointed out that the commissioners at present are kept in their offices a large amount of the time, attending to the detail work of the administration, with the result that they have not visited the utilities often enough to keep in touch with how they are being conducted.

At the last meeting of the council,

Alderman Hyndman's resolution calling upon the commissioners to report whether or not they needed additional funds and also to state how many times they had visited the different utilities during the past six months, was adopted. To the Capital this morning Commissioner Bouillon indicated that he would not submit his report on this question until next Tuesday night.

MOOSE JAW MAY WANT TO GO WET ONCE MORE

Regina, Sask., May 19.—Representations were made by counsel today to the board of license commissioners on behalf of licensees for Moose Jaw, asking for re-hearing of applications or renewals of licenses in this city. It was urged that public opinion in the city had veered round since last October and that a majority of citizens now favor the granting of licenses. The commissioners assented to a re-hearing of the case on June 26.

NO HAREM SKIRTS THERE

With the Coronation approaching, and the Court festivities, ladies will do well to avoid obtruding hideous-like the harem skirt upon the Royal presence—says M.A.P. Any lady who is so foolish as to appear before their Majesties thus absurdly clad will write herself down effectually, and the word of warning may prevent a few social calamities.

"CANOPY DUCHESSES"

The interesting announcement is made that the Duchess of Sutherland, the Duchess of Portland, the Duchess of Montrose, and the Duchess of Hamilton are to have the honor of carrying the queen's canopy at the Coronation. It will be remembered that these ladies, with the exception of the Duchess of Hamilton, stood for Queen Alexandra, and that their services were recognized by the bestowal of a special decoration.

It is said that the garment workers' strike fund will exceed $2,000,000 by next July. More than one hundred and fifty thousand persons belong to the union.

HE WOULD AMEND RAILWAY CHARTER

Ottawa, May 19.—Notice was given on the way yesterday by Hon. W. S. Fielding, of a resolution to be considered when the omnibus meets again in July, whereby the charter of the Canadian Northern Alberta railway be amended, and the route of the branch westerly from Edmonton changed in several respects. By the act of 1910 the governor in council was authorized to aid in the construction of a railway from a point at or near Edmonton or Strathcona in a generally westerly direction to the coal areas of the Brazeau and the headwaters of the Métoué river. For this purpose, there was a guarantee of $13,
